Nivo is a universal cross body phone lanyard designed to keep your device secure and always within reach. Made from recycled PET with premium-grade aluminium details, Nivo combines durability with a clean, modern look. The thick, high-quality strap is designed for maximum wearing comfort, making it ideal for daily use. Its universal and strong design works with any phone that uses a protective case, allowing you to carry your device safely without limiting functionality. Nivo can be worn comfortably around the neck or as a cross body strap, giving you complete hands-free convenience wherever you go. The adjustable strap can be easily set from 200 cm to 120 cm, ensuring a perfect fit for every user and wearing style. Made with RCS (Recycled Claim Standard) certified recycled PET and recycled aluminium. The total recycled content is 18% based on the total item weight. PVC free and packed in plastic-free FSC packaging.
